BATTLE

For the Gnatweight Championship of the Twin Cities

SECOND PICTURE AND STUNTS SHOW
—by the—
AMERICAN LEGION BAND

The managers for this show, Chandler and Lor, have arranged with the logical contender for the gnatweight championship of the Twin Cities to battle a four-round knock out or go down for the gnatweight champion's belt.

A musical program furnished by Taylor's Tantalizing Terpsichorean Orchestra will be more than sure to set even the goutiest feet in the audience to wiggling.

And as a special feature the managers have induced Paramount Pictures to release to them "Jack Straw" a wonderful picture fairly bubbling over with laughs and thrills, featuring Robert Warwick.

Bud and Susie will be there, too,
To greet every gol darn'd one of you.

Spirit of Cooperation Grows

Official recognition of the W. C. T. U. and its humanitarian work in the interest of world wide prohibition is daily becoming more evident. This recognition has most recently been shown by the appointment of Miss Anna A. Gordon, president of the National W. C. T. U., to serve as a vice chairman on the National Council for the Limitation of Armament and also as an executive officer of the National Council of Women.

Baptist Church Notes

Sunday school at 9:45; attendance last Sunday 119. Collection $8.75. Church services at 11. Sermon on "Not My Will But Thine Be Done" by pastor. Attendance not so good. More people should attend church. If you do not attend at the other churches come to the Baptist. Everybody welcome. The music is getting better.

Prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 7.

T. H. Jenkins, Pastor.

Peace Petition Presented By Miss Gordon

Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes on November 21 received the mammoth peace petition more than one mile in length signed by 129,531 women voters, which was presented by Miss Anna A. Gordon, president of the National W. C. T. U.

A group of the signers of this petition, wherein was expressed the gratitude of these women to the president of the United States for calling the conference on the Limitation of Armament and the prayer that its fundamental purpose be achieved, are presidents of women's organizations representing a combined membership of more than two million and a half women.

OBITUARY

J. Herman Elfrank, son of Fred and Mary B. Elfrank, was born in Bollinger county January 1, 1890, and died January 3, 1922, making his age 32 years and two days.

Herman Elfrank spent the early part of his life in Bollinger county, Cape Girardeau and Morley. He moved to Newport, Ark., in 1899 where he made his home till the time of his death.

Mr. Elfrank had been unwell for some time, but had not been confined to his room till after December 27, 1921, when he fell and hurt himself.

He died on the train between Newport, Ark., and Poplar Bluff on his way to the hospital. The body was brought to Lutesville for burial.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. R. M. Wimmell in the Presbyterian church at Lutesville and the body was laid to rest in the cemetery at Marble Hill.

The near relatives of Mr. Elfrank are his brother, Henry Elfrank and family of Lutesville and a half sister living near Cape Girardeau. Mr. Elfrank has one brother and one half sister dead.

Some of these relatives were here to join with friends in paying the last tribute of respect to the departed.

The cause of Mr. Elfrank's death was liver trouble.

SHORT TERM AT TEACHERS COLLEGE BEGINS

The six weeks term in Agriculture, Farm Mechanics and Home Economics at the Southeast Missouri State Teachers College at

As part of the short term in Agriculture films are being shown illustrating various features of the course. Tuesday night films were shown of Jersey cattle, the films being furnished by the American Jersey Cattle Club. They are said to be the best pictures of Jersey cattle shown.

The pictures were shown by the large motion picture projecting machine just installed by the College in the auditorium of Agademic hall.

Prof. B. H. Franks of the Rural Life Department of the University of Missouri is on this week's program for two lectures, his subjects being "Farm Cost Accounting," and "Farm Organization."

During the entire term of six weeks there will be lectures and demonstrations, many illustrated by motion pictures and slides.

The last week of the term, February 6-10, will be Farmers' Week, during which prominent men and women from leading colleges and universities will lecture. Special programs will be provided during this week and the people of southeast Missouri are cordially invited to attend.
